Bedford Street Angels appoints a New Chair

It has been announced this evening that the Bedford Street Angels Trustees and Committee appointed Mr Stephen Elphick as Chair to succeed Major Ian Loxley.

Stephen is married to Pip with 4 sons, 3 of whom are married and the other is due to be married in October this year. Stephen has also served as local Head teacher of a Lower School for over 20 years but decided to take early retirement after 37 years in the teaching profession.

Alongside his new role as Chair, Stephen is also part of the leadership of Kingdom Way Church which has been very involved in the work of Street Angels from its inception and is part of the monthly prayer team which gathers through Saturdays night to pray for the work. He been out on the streets several times making the DVD for the first year celebration and served on the committee to plan for this event.

On welcoming his appointment, Mr Elphick said

“My heart’s desire is to see Gods people working in unity as I believe this is clearly demonstrated in the Word and so I have been involved in other initiatives where churches are encouraged to work together. I see Bedford Street Angels as an integral part of Gods plan to bring the Love and compassion of Jesus onto the streets of our town, to be his hands and feet and to bring his salvation to a lost generation; to see His Kingdom come thus changing the spiritual state of Bedford.”
