

Second Christian Nightlife Initiatives Conference

Community Transformation within the Night-time Economy

Wednesday 7th July 2010, Salvation Army, Bedford

The impact of faith based projects working within the night-time economy across the UK is amazing! Crime reduced, thousands of people helped, churches working in unity and communities changed! The second CNI conference will help celebrate all that is achieved and provide greater opportunity for the many different projects to meet and to work together in the future. I look forward to seeing you there...

Network and Booking

"I welcome these night-time initiatives such as Street Angels. You are working hard to help the communities in which you live by making the streets safer and I am extremely grateful to you all for that. I pray that these initiatives continue to result in reduced crime and the fear of crime. Keep up the good work!" - Archbishop of York, The Most Revd & Rt Hon Dr John Sentamu.

The Christian Nightlife Initiatives Network was launched at the first conference in July 2008. Since then the Network has: helped individual projects feel part of a bigger picture; shared resources; promoted the spread of Street Angels and similar projects through media, web and monthly newsletters; helped several towns and cities launch projects; communicated prayer needs and good news stories; linked projects with other projects locally and regionally.

Many projects have asked for a more formal CNI Network to be in place - so to this end Halifax Street Angels have incorporated CNI into its new Charity and Limited Company and are inviting projects to become members of this. More details are available at www.cninetwork.org.uk and will be discussed at the conference.
